SOME LIGHTNING TIME MADE AT CHURCHILL DOWNS.

St. Maxim Wins the Louisville Handicap in an Exciting Race, and Ben Eder Splits a Crack in the Kentucky Atmosphere a Half Mile Long in the Last Race—Nancy and Summertime Raced Off the Track at St. Asaph—Other Races of the Day—Pacific Coast Kennel Club Exhibits at San Francisco—Notes.

Louisville, Ky., May 8.—Three favorites and two well backed second choices captured the events at Churchill Downs this afternoon, and the bookies suffered in consequence. The track was lightning fast as the morning breeze from St. Maxim and Ben Eder will attest. In the Louisville handicap at a mile, they were sent away to a good start with Satsuma in the lead, Henry Young second and St. Maxim third. The St. Blaise colt assumed command at the quarter and led all the way, winning easily. Henry Young was whipped out to beat Satsuma for the place, Ben Eder had little difficulty in disposing of his field in the last race, but Graham, on May Pinkerton, went to sleep and rewarded nipped him at the wire for the place. Summaries:

St. Asaph Races. Washington, May 8.—The racing at St. Asaph today fully up to the average. The beautiful day drew out a large attendance and the books did fairly well. The future course of the race was definitely mapped out by a circular which was issued to the horses, stating that the meeting would continue after May 14, under Western Turf congress rules.

A meeting of the officials of the track was held tonight and S. W. Street, Nee and the filly Summertime were ruled off the Jockey club track. Street is the owner of the filly, taken by Nee, last Friday. Judge Powers and Starter Fitzgerald were called to New York yesterday to be present at a meeting of the Jockey club held to investigate the Summertime race.

Ex-Jockey Fitzpatrick held the flag today and his work elicited much applause. Summaries:

NOT OVER WITH YET

PLOT AND COUNTERPLOT IN THE GORDON-BROWN CASE.

Archibald Brown's Story That He Was the Victim of an Assassination by Proxy—Man Supposed to be Mixed Up in the Case Brought into Court—Policeman Who Heard Gordon's Confession is Admitted to Testify—How the Murder Was Done—Case Still in Progress.

Louisville, Ky., May 8.—The Courier-Journal prints the following: "The situation attending the Gordon double killing is not over yet by half. The prosecution today will attempt to prove that Archibald Brown's death was due to a deep laid plot to assassinate him, the trap, as the prosecution believed, was fostered by one, who for reasons best known to himself, was afraid to do the work and used Gordon as a tool to carry out his designs. These statements come directly from the prosecution. Gordon Brown has reason to believe that his son came to Louisville on the day of the tragedy and his assignment with Mrs. Gordon. This Louisville man, the prosecution claims, notified Gordon that she was to meet Brown and actively assisted in the foul assassination.

The prosecution further says that the name of the man who acted as proxy was known to them and that he will be produced in court. In a private letter last night Governor Brown insisted that the man referred to was not known to them and that he will be produced in court. The man is said to be a college chum of Gordon's and was married in Frankfort. It is further stated in the article that the prosecution have discovered evidence that young Brown was not Mrs. Gordon's seducer; that three other men were connected with Mrs. Gordon's escapades, and although it is not known, the victim's father, does not desire to blacken the character of this man, whose family are friends of the governor, yet if it is necessary to prove his son's innocence it will be done.

GAZLEY IS BROUGHT IN. The examining trial of Fulton Gordon was resumed at 2 o'clock today. Judge Thompson stated that he had decided to admit Gordon's confession to Policeman Lapelle, as it was entirely correct. The prosecution this afternoon caused a subpoena to be issued for Webster Gazley, who was present when court opened at 2 o'clock today. The man expected to show that Gazley was the man who accompanied Gordon to Ford Smith's house after informing Lord Brown and his wife had gone there. Gazley, however, testified that he had no knowledge of the deplorable affair and he was excused. Policeman Lapelle testified as to Gordon's statement made in the ambulance.

There were some fine dogs among the hounds, including Tasso, a prize-winner in the puppy class. Howard Vernon's pointer, Glenleigh, whelped 1890, sire Gordon's dog, is an attractive entry. He is valued at $1,000. Vernon's bitch, Sallie Brass, winner of twelve first prizes since she was whelped in 1888, was also exhibited, with several of Glenleigh's puppies. Countess Noble, the English setter matched against Glenleigh for the next field trial at a side, is exhibited. Lovers of the mastiff Miss Cayin McNab's Crown Prince, the finest on the coast. He is represented, however, by a son, Mr. W. McNab, who is a champion. Ex-Jockey Fitzpatrick held the flag today and his work elicited much applause. Summaries:

NIOARAGUA TAKES UP A COLLECTION FOR GREAT BRITAIN.

Money is Raised With Comparative Ease, but for Every Dollar That Goes Clanking into the British Coffers There Goes into the Central American Republics Liberty to Form a Confederation for Future Emergencies—German Merchants Come Down With a Good Round Sum.

(Copyrighted 1893 by Associated Press.) Managua, Nicaragua, via Galveston, May 8.—There is no longer any doubt that Great Britain will receive her share of the money that the British have been raised here by appeals for donations. Three German merchants have given about $2,000 and the whole amount will be ready to be paid in London in a few days. The raising of the money, however, has only increased popular feeling in Nicaragua against Great Britain and the feeling is now very bitter indeed, more so if possible than when the British landed at Corinto. The general opinion seems to be that the Central American republics will form a confederation, possibly secret, against Great Britain, and that everything possible will be done to exclude British goods from Central America. This feeling will probably result in commercial gain to the United States. There is no doubt, however, that the German firms in Nicaragua are in a position to subscribe so liberally to the indemnity fund will prove a good stroke of business for them. The steamship, San Juan, set sail on Monday last at San Juan del Sur from Managua.

The Catscome of Paris. Down, down, down! All are in the rock house. A moment's pause and silence falls on the chattering crowd. Then, affrighted with their second's fear, they away onward through a rocky gallery, Rock on either side of them, rock above them; here and there, they slay with a sword and a foot growth. The passage broadens out, it narrows and over and over there is the black line on the roof that marks the road. Suddenly a black shadow on the left or to the right. The eye plunges into the depths of the side roads, and recoils against their mysterious gloom. The lights die on a thin sliver of a dark gap with a flickering broken line of light. "Ah!" says the guide. "Yes, a chain."

Still forward, the shadows to right and left grow in size. Some have a sentry's look, others are like a man's head in a chain. A sudden check from in front breaks the continuity of the forward movement. We move on again, and lo, the rocks on either hand contract, change color, break out into the grotesque designs of a symmetrical architecture. The lights die on a thin sliver of a dark gap with a flickering broken line of light. "Ah!" says the guide. "Yes, a chain."
